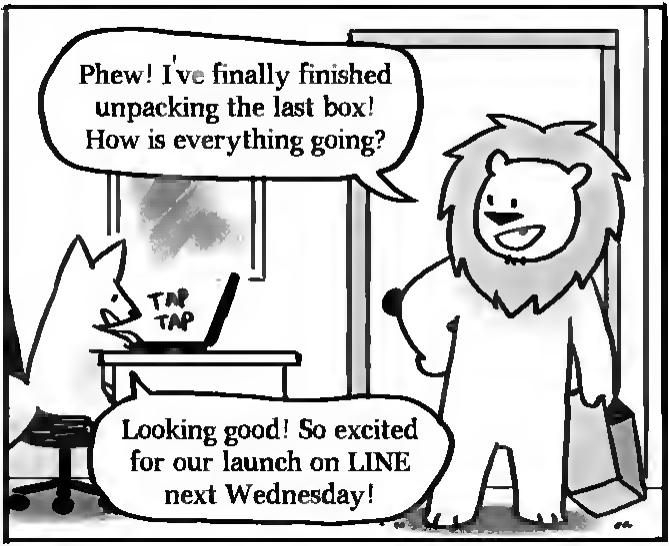
ROAR STREET JOURNAL

The Alternative Plan

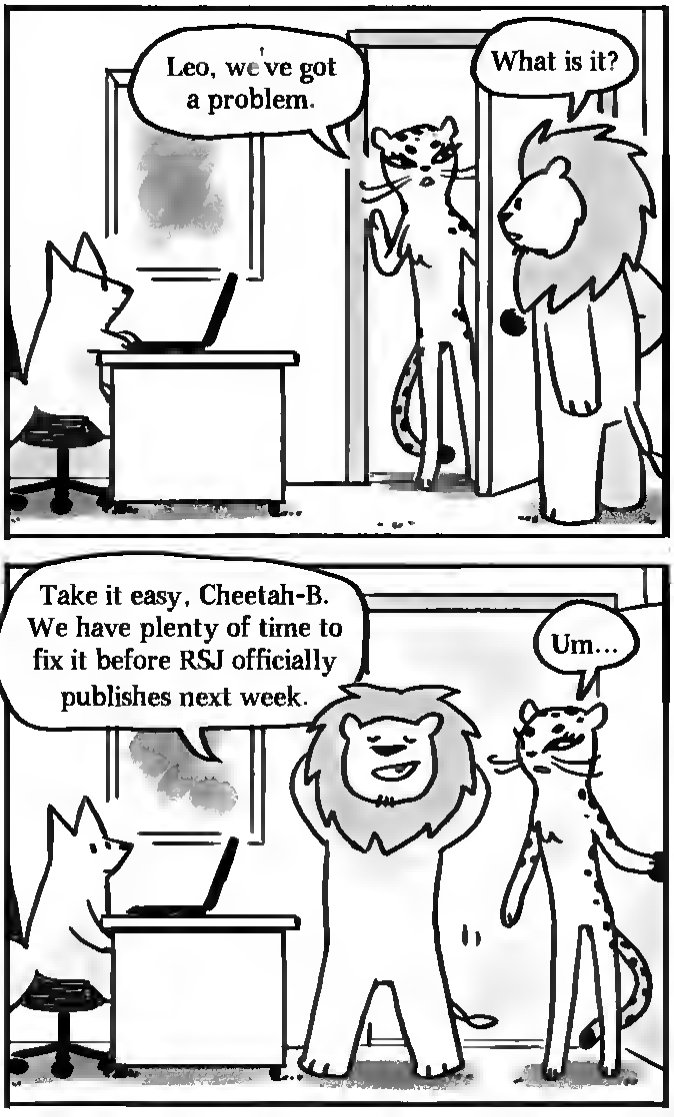
OK...listen, I've got two plans.
Our original plan is to publish next week, but it's out of the question now.
What about plan B?



Phew! I've finally finished unpacking the last box! How is everything going?
TAP TAP
Looking good! So excited for our launch on LINE next Wednesday!

KNOCK KNOCK!

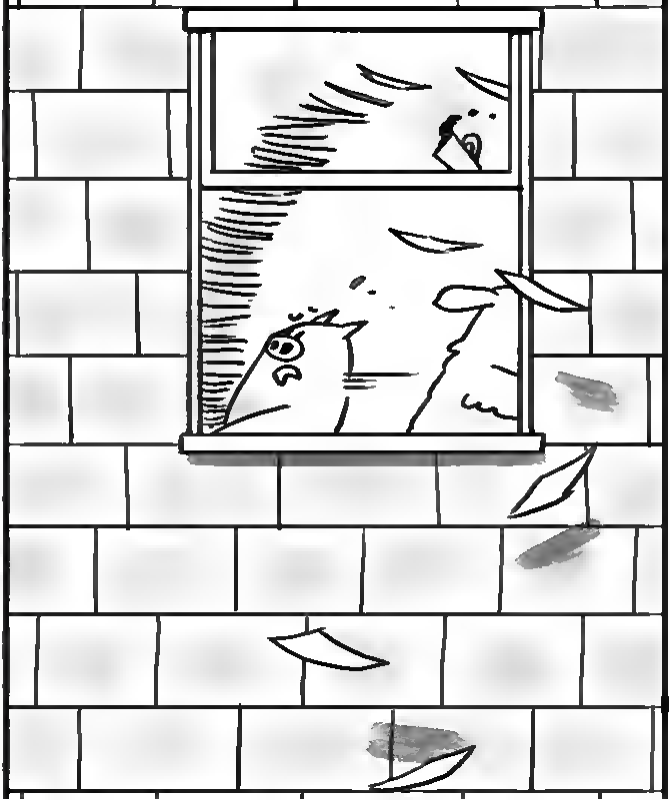
..the problem is our launch got changed to this week.
The prologue is already out.
Good thing that comments are pouring in.
WHAT?
Is the next episode ready yet? Only one day left.



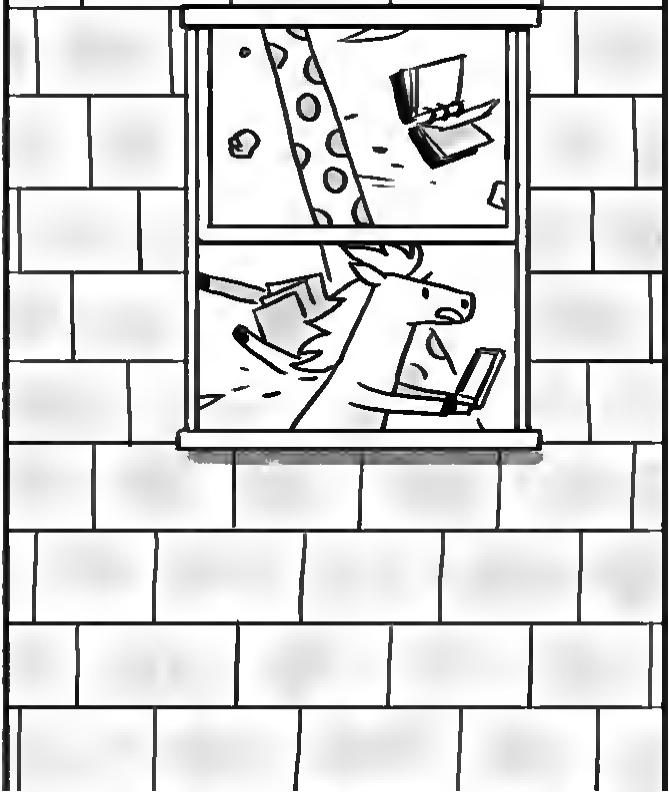
Leo, we've got a problem.
What is it?
Take it easy, Cheetah-B. We have plenty of time to fix it before RSJ officially publishes next week.
Um...

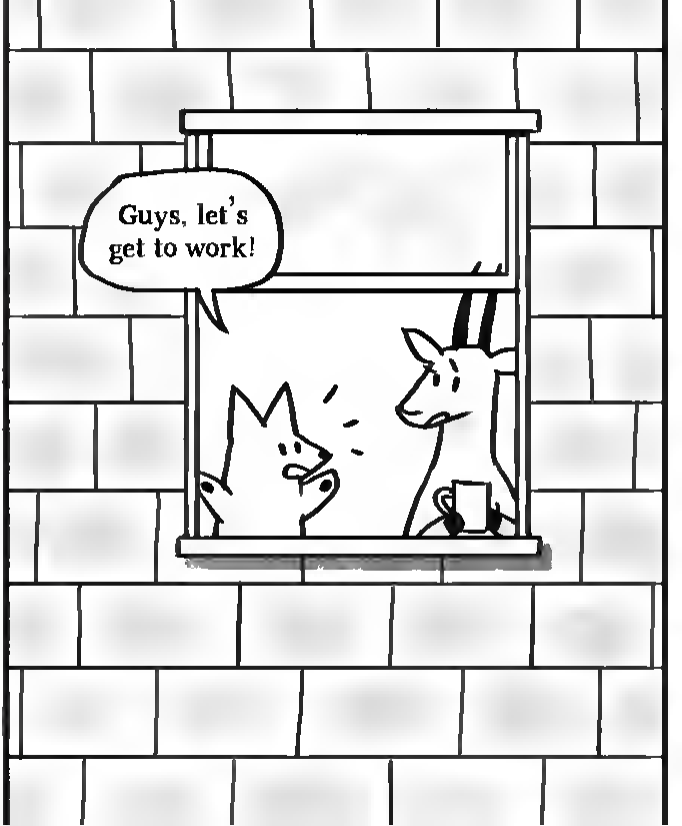
Plan B is that...
...there is no plan B.
PANIC!!!

Ahh! I haven't prepared the next episode yet! What should I do? What should I do??
Calm down, Leo. I can't concentrate on my work.

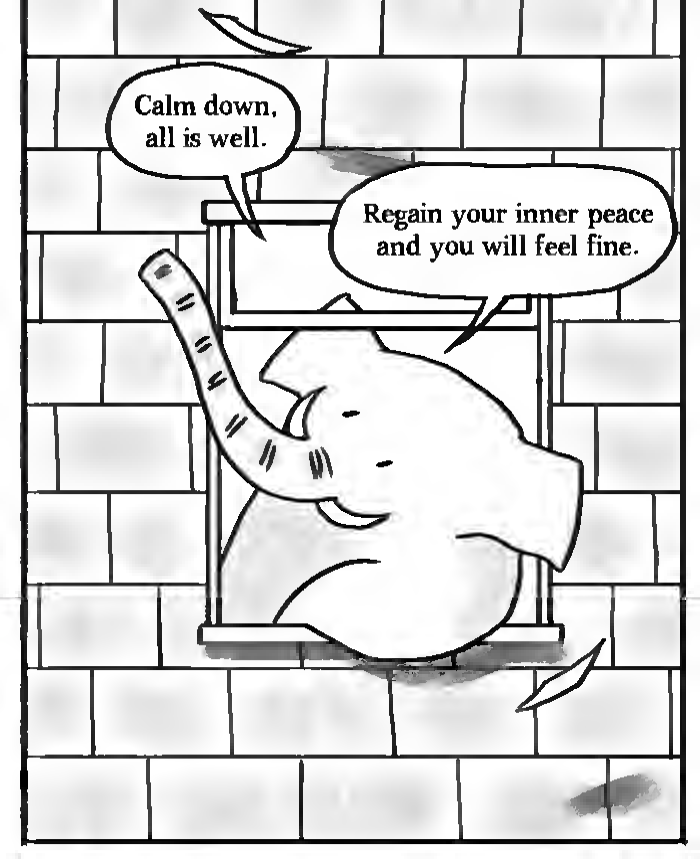


work it harder
makes it better
do it faster
makes us stronger



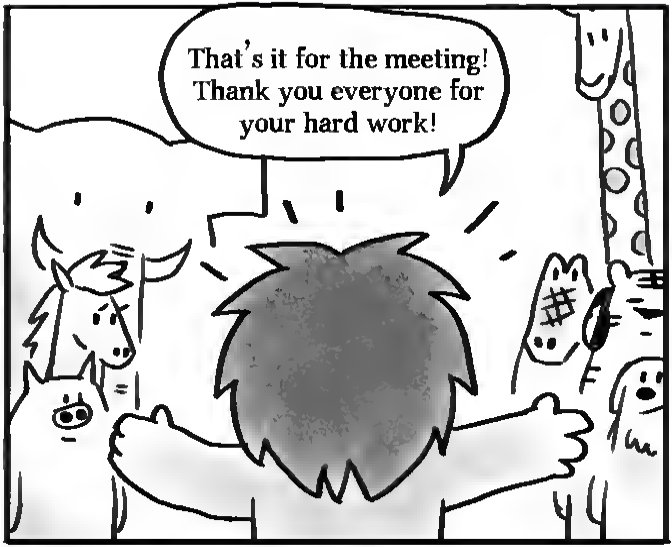


Guys, let's get to work!



Calm down, all is well.
Regain your inner peace and you will feel fine.

moments later



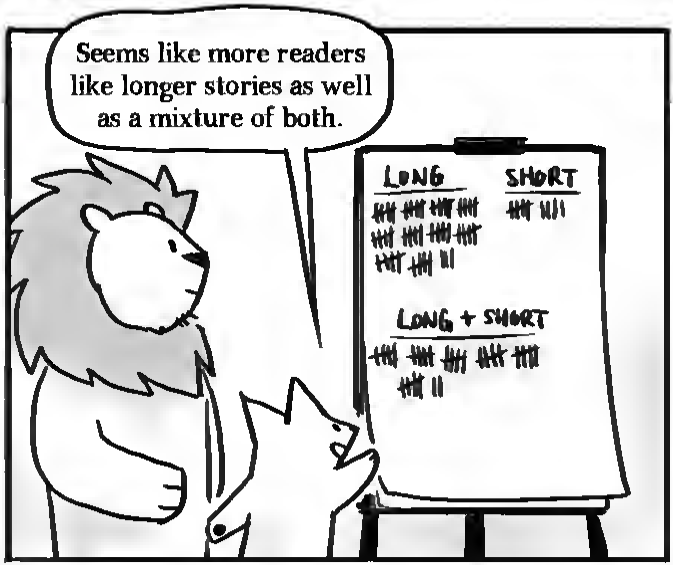
That's it for the meeting! Thank you everyone for your hard work!

Great! We should keep a mixture of short and long comics, so everyone will be happy!
Remember, our contents are not just comedy but include heartwarming stories too! Feel free to explore different themes!

You owe us dinner.
Sure!

Geez, what an exciting day!
Thank you my best buddies, I can't imagine how to handle this without you guys.
Of course, we are a big family!
You did well!

Wow, the comments are still coming in!
Counting them now.



Seems like more readers like longer stories as well as a mixture of both.
LONG
LONG + SHORT

What? Pizza?
Not again, Leo!
SIGH
What? I really need my comfort food today!

Thank you for your feedback!

Oh well, we've got a lot of work to do, anyway.
Let me have one more slice first...
